Company SHEQ Profile

Pat Naidoo Consulting Engineers, a private, independent and professional electrical engineering company is established in the Republic of South Africa. The company is led by Resident Engineer, Dr Pathmanathan Naidoo who has three decades of corporate sector experience in the electrical power and electrical energy industry. Dr Naidoo's leadership on SHEQ is based on his own basic discipline that we can engineer quality and sustainable solutions for a better quality of life for all without the injury to staff, to members of the public or to any part of the environment.

The Q in SHEQ

Engineers only value added contribution to society is to deliver a better quality of life for all. The solutions delivered are fundamentally quality focussed. By design, QUALITY is an expected output with the key attributes of long term sustainability and cost effectiveness.

The E in SHEQ

Solutions having long term sustainability naturally work in partnership with the environment. The environment nurtures and protects the delivered solutions. Mother Nature always exists in a state of balance; damaging solutions are inevitably pushed out and made non sustainable.

The H in SHEQ

Health comes before wealth; without health, wealth has no value. Long term sustainable solutions contribute positively to enhancing the health of all that enjoys and experiences the solutions that are delivered essentially for a better quality of life for all.

The S in SHEQ

Finally, in preparing the engineered solutions for society; there is no need to hurt any employee, any member of the public or any part of the environment. Work can and must be accident and incident free for the entire long term operating life of the solution delivered to society. ZERO ACCIDENT is an expectation, it must be planned for, designed for and the life long result is achievable.
